Celebrate the

Royal Wedding in SE1

A round-up of royal wedding-related activities in SE1 as Prince William and Catherine Middleton prepare to marry at Westminster Abbey on Friday 29 April.

Southbank Centre is hosting a London in Love weekend to mark the start of the Festival of Britain anniversary celebrations throughout the summer. The programme includes live dance and music events across the site, including a Guilty Pleasures club night (Saturday) and a Big Busk (Saturday – see page 3) and gig (Monday) by Billy Bragg. Visitors will be able to watch the wedding of the decade at Southbank Centre and at The Magners Pasture, Udderbelly's beer garden, and there will be an opportunity for 12 couples to get married in Southbank Centre's Chapel of Love. The Hayward Gallery's Project Space is showing an exhibition (see page 7) that focuses on contemporary artists' representations of the House of Windsor, while the first Real Street Food Festival (see page 3) will take place on Southbank Centre Square.

The EDF Energy London Eye will have Union Jack bunting and the wheel's lights will turn red, white and blue on the evening of the wedding. From the moment the royal couple make their vows in Westminster Abbey, the London Eye is offering two complimentary tickets to all married couples called Will and Kate who turn up at the wheel (with their wedding certificates) during the following week.

Less tastefully the London Dungeon is offering a free miniature ball and chain to the first 100 couples to visit the Tooley Street attraction on royal wedding day.

easyJet is searching for Europe's best Will and Kate look-a-likes and will be holding the grand final of its competition in Potters Fields Park on Wednesday 27 April. The top 10 Will and Kate look-a-likes will each win a trip to London to enjoy the celebrations and be in with a chance to be crowned the best double and receive free easyJet flights for a year. Details at ilooklikearoyal.com

Road closures on the wedding day will include Lambeth Bridge and Westminster Bridge, with knock-on effects on buses and other traffic in SE1.

The police's public order operation will be run from the control room in Lambeth Road. St Thomas' Hospital will have a New Year's Eve-style security operation to deal with the extra crowds around the building and the challenges posed by the road closures.

We haven't heard of any planned street parties in SE1 but the Setchell Estate Tenants' & Residents' Association in Bermondsey will be celebrating the wedding along with St George's Day on Saturday 23 April; see page 3.

SE1 will also feature in the television coverage of the wedding: Anna Botting from Sky News will be hosting a live screening event on the South Bank for public figures, friends of the royal couple, charities and other opinion formers.

Waterloo Bar and Grill will be serving a Royal High Tea with a selection of sandwiches, cakes and teas for £30. Guests can choose from the special wedding cocktail menu available throughout the day). Other local restaurants offering special menus include the Oxo Tower.

Anti-monarchy campaign group Republic will be holding its Love Republic party at the Borough Bar in London Bridge Street to conclude a day of "not the royal wedding" events. There will be a schedule of live bands, comedy and surprises. Details at www.republic.org.uk

Saturday 30 April 8am-5pm

Beauty and the Belfast

The Imperial War Museum is inviting Londoners to submit their snaps capturing the beauty of HMS Belfast. The only requirement is that your photograph must feature some part of the ship but you can take your photos from the shore, on deck or below deck. One winner plus three friends will enjoy a private tour of the ship's nine decks of amazing seafaring history with Chief Yeoman Kevin Price. The tour will take place on the sixty-seventh anniversary of D-Day, Monday 6 June, complete with a simulated firing of the ship's 4-inch guns. Submit your photos at www.iwm.org.uk/belfast-comp by 11.59pm on Friday 6 May.

London Marathon

The Virgin London Marathon on Sunday 17 April will involve a number of road closures around Tower Bridge, Tooley Street and Jamaica Road. The bridge itself is expected to be closed to traffic from 6am to 7pm. Jamaica Road is due to reopen by 4pm. Full details at www.virginlondonmarathon.comSE1 people taking part in the marathon this year include Captain Jonny Smith from the Southwark Salvation Army at Elephant & Castle. This is his sixth marathon and he hopes to raise £10,000 from this event and a trek to Everest base camp later in the year. Details at www.justgiving.com/Jonny-Smith-Marathon-Everest Meanwhile Lester Reeves aims to raise £2,000 for Blackfriars Settlement where he is a volunteer with the older people's service. Sponsor him at www.justgiving.com/LesterReeves1 Paul Wells and Greg Kirby are raising cash for the Mayor of Southwark's Common Good Fund in memory of Nancy Hammond who was involved in many civic activities in the borough. See www.justgiving.com/gjk2011

London Kayakathon

On the same day as the London Marathon dozens of kayakers will paddle 26.2 miles down the Thames from Tower Bridge to Chiswick and back again in aid of a range of charities. Details at www.londonkayakathon.com

Council Assembly

Southwark's Council Assembly will be debating the future of the borough on Wednesday 6 April at the Town Hall in Peckham Road. There are a number of SE1-related items on the agenda including a deputation from the Friends of Geraldine Mary Harmsworth Park and councillors will also make a decision on plans to extend the Borough & Bankside licensing saturation area. Follow @councilassembly on Twitter for our unofficial commentary from the meeting. There will also be audio clips from the meeting on www.London-SE1.co.uk from Thursday 7 April.

HOTEL CONFESSIONS
Tue-Sun 7pm & 9pm; £12.50 from www.southwarkplayhouse.co.uk

Hotel Confessions is an intimate site-responsive production at The Bermondsey Square Hotel. This double bill of short plays explores the chance meeting of strangers, forced to share time, space and secrets in the intimacy of a hotel room. Come and enter their private world and hear them confess... The Night in the Hotel by Anouke Brook is written after the classic short story Die Nacht im Hotel, by award-winning German writer Siegfried Lenz; Freya and Mr. Mushroom is a brand new play by exciting young British playwright Nessah Aisha Muthy. Although highly individual and unique in approach, both plays are linked by their exploration of urban loneliness and the unexpected friendships that form between strangers in the most unlikely surroundings. Tender, compelling and darkly funny - this strictly limited run will play twice each night and accommodate an exclusive audience of just 10 people per showing.

Lyttelton Theatre; In repertory; £12-£30
A new play about uncertainty, confusion and the future of everything, by Moira Buffini, Matt Charman, Penelope Skinner and Jack Thorne. What on earth is happening to our planet? Who knows what, and what can or should be done about it? The questions we all have about the environment and the future are exhilaratingly intricate. Knowing what and who to trust is an increasingly bewildering challenge. Only a few things are certain: every living thing is related to every other living thing; our actions have consequences; change is constant and inevitable.

Timothy, a new young disciple, makes several important and revealing visits to the four Gospel writers. On his journey he discovers separately much about why they wrote, who they wrote for and something of what they thought of each other. Having revealed important differences he persuades them all to meet together. The lively argument over their important variations forms the second half of this play performed in the Garry Weston Library at Southwark Cathedral. At the end drinks will be served and there will be an opportunity to discuss aspects of the production with cast members, director and writer.

Take control of Tower Bridge

The City of London Corporation has launched an annual competition for a member of the public to win the opportunity to take the controls of Tower Bridge, stop the traffic and raise the bascules for a boat to pass through.

The 'guest bridge driver' will be supervised by a senior technical officer, who will guide him or her through the procedure, which involves making a series of public announcements and using a joystick and a sequence of buttons to close, unlock, raise, lower, lock and reopen the bridge.

Afterwards, he or she will be presented with a commemorative certificate in the control cabin, before being offered a tour of the Tower Bridge Exhibition, as well as the chance to visit the underground bascule chamber and the fifth-level turrets, neither of which are open to the public. As they leave Tower Bridge, they will be given a bottle of champagne.

Applicants can enter the prize draw by answering a question about Tower Bridge or the Square Mile on the bridge's website. The answer can be found by visiting the Tower Bridge Exhibition or by exploring the bridge's website at www.towerbridge.org.uk

The winner will be chosen by selecting a random number from the total number of entries emailed to entries@towerbridge.org.uk

Lord Mayor of London Michael Bear will make the first draw this month.

"It may take around eight minutes to perform a bridge lift, but the competition winners' memory of taking the controls of this historic landmark will last a lifetime," says bridge master Eric Sutherns MBE.

"As well as being a privilege, you feel a real sense of responsibility. The controls in your hands are lifting over 2,000 tonnes of Victorian ironwork and bringing part of the city's traffic to a standstill.

"I hope that people will enjoy entering the prize draw, and my colleagues and I look forward to welcoming the lucky winners and their guests to the control room for their briefing and bridge lift."

Well-known people who have opened Tower Bridge include Sir Terry Wogan, Will Self and Simon Hoggart.
