Southwark Playhouse opens in Newington Causeway

Southwark Playhouse opens the doors of its new home on Newington Causeway on 15 May.

Founded 20 years ago in Southwark Bridge Road, the playhouse left its most recent home at London Bridge Station at the start of this year.

This month the theatre begins its third incarnation in Newington Causeway, close to Elephant & Castle.

The first show in the 240-seat main space – to be known as The Large – will be Tanzi Libre, the first major London revival in over 30 years of the West End hit Trafford Tanzi, directed by Ellie Jones. The title of the play changes depending on where it is performed. This production is called Tanzi Libre because it will incorporate the Mexican lucha libre style of wrestling.

The 120-seat studio theatre – The Little – will open with the London premiere of the award-winning Juana in a Million by Vicky Araico Casas.

To celebrate the launch of its new venue, the playhouse is offering 1,000 free tickets for Tanzi Libre to local residents.

All residents of the London Borough of Southwark will be able to book a maximum of 2 tickets per household. Tickets must be booked over the phone on 020 7407 0234. Proof of Southwark residence will be required when tickets are collected. Free tickets are not guaranteed and are subject to availability but are offered throughout the run from 15 May to 22 June.

Southwark Playhouse has announced a summer programme which includes the first professional UK revival in over 50 years of Peter Ustinov's The Moment of Truth, a stage adaptation of Herman Melville's novel Billy Budd and the European premiere of a new chamber version of Broadway musical Titanic.

Decade and a half of change

This month we celebrate the 15th anniversary of the first edition of 'in SE1'.

Thank you to our readers, advertisers and everyone who has supported us. Each year we feature more than 2,000 local events. Much has changed in the past decade and a half: many of the galleries, attractions, restaurants and shops featured in our May 1998 issue no longer exist, and dozens of new attractions have taken their place. There is much to celebrate, but in 2013 SE1 is at a turning point, with pioneering venues such as the Union Theatre we wrote about in issue 1 now threatened by a new wave of development. The polarisation of our neighbourhood continues at an inexorable pace as Bankside joins the super-prime property league, council homes are sold and new affordable housing becomes more scarce. Will we still have a sense of community in 15 years?

www.cityoflondon.gov.uk/lmaBorough Market car park

Until recently the Winchester Walk car park housed market stalls displaced from Three Crown Square during construction of a new rail viaduct across the market. Network Rail constructed a temporary roof over the yard which the market trustees recently received planning permission to retain for another five years. Now – with Three Crown Square back in action – the Jubilee Market has been renamed Jubilee Place and is open as a short-stay public car park six days a week. Managed by social enterprise WestawayCT, the car park includes two spaces for disabled drivers and four spaces for electric vehicle charging as part of the Source London network. Parking costs £2 for a maximum of two hours.

Tue-Sun 7.30pm; £20 (conc £19)
The European premiere of the cult rock musical is directed by Paul Taylor-Mills. This contemporary rock musical follows a group of teens wrestling with issues of identity, sexuality, and religion at a Catholic boarding school. Provocative, raw, and unyielding in its exploration of how today's generation navigates the tightrope between adolescence and adulthood, this musical examines the consequences of baring a soul-or hiding it from those who matter most. Music by Damon Intribartolo, book and lyrics by Jon Hartmer.

THE SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL

Tue-Sat 7.30pm; Sun 4pm; £15 (conc £13)
At the height of eighteenth century London, the truth is a rare commodity. Rumour, gossip and back-biting abound in Richard Sheridan's classic. When the wealthy Sir Oliver returns to Britain to select which of his nephews is to become his heir, he is plunged into a dissolute world, where morality takes second place to double-crossing, intrigue and downright skulduggery. From the creators of the box office success Lady Windermere's Fan, comes an elegantly styled production of Sheridan's masterpiece, delighting in the lies, lust, deceit and scandal of the upper classes. Fast paced, witty and chic, The School for Scandal is a wonderfully comic glimpse into a world of wealth, romance, and deception - where nothing is quite as it seems.

LIFEWORX: NORMAN PARKINSON'S CENTURY OF STYLE

Regarded as the father of modern fashion photography, 2013 marks the centenary of Norman Parkinson's birth. Many of the tropes that are now commonplace in print and online images - exotic locations, unexpected props and weird juxtapositions - were introduced in the extraordinary photographs he took before and after the Second World War. Beyond the glamour that for many defines his work, he was also an incisive and skilful portrait photographer. This exhibition covers all aspects of his long career until his death in 1990.

MOVING IMAGES: PHIL COY
At the opening event, visual artist Phil Coy presented live performance pieces and the residual traces of these works will remain in the building for the duration of the exhibition. Coy investigates the choreography of sound in Material Choir, where a fragmented choir navigates individual paths through the building, singing about the material surfaces they encounter. While in Crate, a standard issue art packing crate plays back the sounds of its journey from one exhibition to the next.

Xenia

Xenia, is a Greek word which means hospitality or generosity and courtesy shown to those who are far from home.

Following our £9 million renovation, Chapter 1 is very pleased to introduce Xenia, our newly remodelled and refurbished venue in Waterloo.

Xenia's vision for the future is to utilize the space we have for the use of our local community. Complete with high-tech conferencing facilities, kitchen, a large reception area and garden terrace Xenia is an ideal location for hosting a range of events and functions:

- ⇒ Business seminars and conferences
- ⇒ Training days
- ⇒ Social and cultural events or fundraisers
- ⇒ Fitness classes, zumba, kick boxing and yoga
- ⇒ Educational groups
- ⇒ Art and drama lessons
- ⇒ Coffee mornings
- ⇒ Children and youth groups

If you are looking for space to run a group or activity in SE1 please get in touch!

Xenia hopes to generate income with its conferencing rooms, to help fund Chapter 1's charitable projects around the UK.

Open Monday to Friday: 8am-9pm and Weekends: 10am-8pm
